‘Stableford Multiplication’

Teams of 2 play normal Stableford rules using their own playing handicaps on each hole.

At the end of each hole, the stableford points won by each player are multiplied together, the result being the team score for that particular hole.

Example 1 :

Player A scores 2 points on the hole, his partner scores 3 points. Both scores are multiplied together, $2 \times 3 = 6$, 6 points are then recorded as the team score for that hole.

Example 2 :

Player A scores 2 points on the hole, his partner scores 0 points. Both scores are multiplied together, $2 \times 0 = 0$, 0 points are then recorded as the team score for that hole.
